

Worm Up!

Out-manuever your fellow “worms” in this fast, frolicking award-winning family game. Designed by the remarkable Alex Randolph, Worm Up! is a fun family game involving luck, strategy, and just the perfect amount of total chaos.

Each player selects one of his counter pieces (numbered 4, 5, 6, 7, and X). Then each one moves his worm segments according to the number he has chosen, from the back of their worm to the front (or vice versa, if need be). Weaving around and cutting off other players is both expected and encouraged, sometimes forcing other players to wiggle their worm in reverse. You can’t tell until the very end who will end up crossing the finish line first and win the game! Fun and surprising every time you play.

“There’s something gently lovable about Worm Up! O, it’s fun, all right. But it’s funny, too. And so spare in its design that it’s what you might call endearing....a minor masterwork.”

“Positively dripping with fun ... Worm Up! is the perfect way to warm up your fellow gamers for something a little meatier, to kill some time while waiting for the last player to arrive, or just to get some chuckles rolling on a lunch break. I can't recommend the game highly enough, and encourage you to track it down and add it to your collection!”
